

The Race For The Best Jobs Starts Earlier Than You Think.

It starts before the in-person interview, before the diploma is framed or the tests are aced.

From their earliest years, Arizona's children are in a race. It's a race to keep up with their classmates, and stay ahead of students around the world. At stake are the best job opportunities and ultimately their quality of life. To help them, we need to do more at every stage of the education experience - from birth to career. That's why in Arizona all of us must work to make sure our education system is strong. Across the state, Arizonans are taking up the cause. Join the movement to strengthen education in our state.
